

SSE ALL SET UP !

Having finalised the required Service Point training, which completes the installation of test gear and equipment, Brisbane based Specialised Staging Equipment is now accredited and all set up as Prolyft Service Point for Australia.

“From the moment we heard about Prolyft and its unique features, we were quite interested to find out more. Having met with the Prolyte team in Malaysia and having visited their stand in Frankfurt and the factory in Holland, was more than it took to convince us” states Nick Rowland, Managing director of SSE.

“We are convinced that, being able to offer lifetime warranty combined with nationwide service and annual certification backed up by the Prolyft D-base, provides a unique service for our Australian customers. In addition, all the products standard features are in compliance with our standards and regulations and therefore offer exactly what is required in Oz!”

As a result, the most prestigious theatre in Queensland, QPAC, selected the Prolyft 500 kg hoist to replace their existing chain hoist fleet. The first batch of these hoists was installed in the theatre early July.

Apart from the regular range of chain hoists and controllers, SSE has special interest in the PLT-500 theatre drive and Pro-motion control units. These products, specially designed for the theatre market, have features, which seem to be tailor made for their market.

SSE is glad to welcome Tony Peaker aboard as their new product manager for the Prolyte products. His broad expertise and product know-how will offer their customers the unique service that does make the difference.
